

Formed in the musically fertile slopes of Colorado's Front Range, Orchard Creek Band offers a fresh and vibrant take on the roots of acoustic music that has made Colorado one of the most exciting music scenes in the country. Orchard Creek Band is Colorado Bluegrass – blending the best of the traditional sounds with passionate originals creating a sound that is at once unique and also familiar.

The band features: Dave Richardson (vocals, banjo), Keith Murdock (vocals, Dobro), Jan Springer (vocals, guitar) and Kevin Slick (vocals, mandolin)

Orchard Creek Band is yet another powerhouse bluegrass ensemble to recently emerge from Colorado's vibrant and vital bluegrass scene. Orchard Creek's instrumental prowess is impeccable. -Bob Allen, Bluegrass Unlimited Magazine

"The debut album by the Orchard Creek Band applies their formidable array of talents to a wide stylistic range of bluegrass-to-far-ranging-roots. With interesting originals, well-sung over a colorful variety of background textures, the group cuts its own unique path through the fields of "Americana-grass". - Pete Wernick

"With upbringings ranging from the Alleghenies to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, Orchard Creek Band is sure to take listeners on a creative journey. A metaphorical "Walk In The Woods" and over the divide, straddling the fine line between their individual musical influences and an honest expression of the sum of their parts." - Aaron Bibelhauser, host of "Bluegrass Evolution", WFPK, Louisville, KY

Orchard Creek Band has a distinct "Colorado Sound" where many different musical influences converge and merge, and have done a nice job of representing the streams of influence from their members. - Greg Blake, 5 time SPBGMA Guitarist of the Year

Orchard Creek shows a great respect for tradition, and yet have a foot planted firmly in the present with an eye towards the future. -Neil Smart, KGNU, Boulder, CO
